

CYBERBULLYING WORD JUMBLE

Cyberbullying is when people use cell phones, text messages, email, social media, websites or any other electronic technology to upset, threaten or embarrass another person. It can include put-downs, insults, spreading rumours, sharing private information, photos or videos, or threatening to do harm. If you are being cyberbullied, stand up by saving a copy so that you can report it, blocking senders who try to cyberbully you, and talking to an adult you trust. Don't reply by being mean yourself!

If you see that someone is being cyberbullied, remember to listen and be caring and kind, and report it to a principal, teacher or parent. Be sure not to press send and share messages or pictures that might hurt or embarrass someone. Instead press delete. If you know who is doing the cyberbullying, ask them to stop.
